Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 28 June 2001.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is responsive to communications filed 28 June 2001.
2. Claims 1-21 have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent Application Publication 2002/0129337 A1 to Evans et al, hereafter referred to as Evans.

Per claim 1:

Evans teaches:

- a method to facilitate debugging a platform-independent virtual machine (“debugging an application comprising Java code...the method operating in a computer having an operating system...and a Java Virtual Machine...” in claim 1. The Java Virtual Machine is platform-independent.)
- providing an agent on the platform-independent virtual machine, wherein the agent provides a set of functions for accessing a plurality of variables in the platform-independent virtual machine (Note Figure 1, item 41 and the corresponding sections of the disclosure. The ICAT2 probe allows a user to access variables.)

- adapting the platform-independent virtual machine to call the set of functions within the agent (“The JVM notifies the debugger of asynchronous occurrences by using events. The probe MUST provide event handlers...” in paragraph 0065. Note Figure 3 and the corresponding sections of the disclosure.)
- examining a current state of the plurality of variables in the platform-independent virtual machine using the agent (“Using ICAT, application developers can...examine the application’s stack and variables...” in paragraph 0015)
- communicating the current state of the plurality of variables to a host machine, wherein an operator of the host machine can analyze the current state of the plurality of variables (Note Figure 2 and the corresponding sections of the disclosure. Further, “ICAT2 to provide a console window...this permits users to see output printed by the application...” in paragraph 0094)

substantially as claimed.

Per claim 2:

The rejection of claim 1 is incorporated, and further, Evans discloses the agent including a core portion that is common across multiple platforms and a platform-specific portion for each platform as claimed (Note Figure 1, items 16 and 41 and the corresponding sections of the disclosure. The core is the JVM, which is common across platforms, while the ICAT2 probe is a platform-specific process.)

Art Unit: 2124

Per claim 3:

The rejection of claim 2 is incorporated, and further, Evans discloses the platform-specific portion including features and structures related to a specific platform-independent virtual machine as claimed ("the ICAT2 probe must establish a connection to the JVM. With the sun.tools.debug API..." in paragraph 0053. The platform-specific portion inherently includes features and structures related to the JVM as it must establish a connection with the JVM.)

Per claim 4:

The rejection of claim 1 is incorporated, and further, Evans discloses inserting checkpoints within executable code as claimed ("to allow the user to...set breakpoints..." in paragraph 0048)

Per claim 5:

The rejection of claim 4 is incorporated, and further, Evans discloses using functions to examine the current state of the plurality of variables and communication the current state of the plurality of variables to the host machine as claimed ("ICAT2 obtains a list of the current application threads by calling the VM's 'allThreads' method..." in paragraph 0103)

Per claim 6:

The rejection of claim 1 is incorporated, and further, Evans discloses one of a direct coupling and a network coupling as claimed ("over a computer network such as a Local Area Network..." in paragraph 0051)

Per claim 7:

Art Unit: 2124

The rejection of claim 1 is incorporated, and further, Evans discloses including resources for collecting data as claimed (Note Figure 13 and the corresponding sections of the disclosure.)

Per claims 8-21:

Claims 8-14 and 15-21 are directed to a computer-readable storage medium storing instructions executed by a computer, and an apparatus, respectively, for performing the methods of claims 1-7, respectively, and are rejected for the reasons set forth in connection with claims 1-7, respectively.

Conclusion

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Trent J Roche whose telephone number is (703)305-4627. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday - Friday, 9:00 am - 6:30 pm.
